The name film originates from the fact that photographic film also called film stock has historically been the medium for recording and displaying motion pictures. Many other terms exist for an individual motion-picture, including picture, picture show, moving picture, photoplay, and flick. The most common term in the United States is movie, while in Europe film is preferred. Common terms for the field in general include the big screen, the silver screen, the movies, and cinema the last of these is commonly used, as an overarching term, in scholarly texts and critical essays. In early years, the word sheet was sometimes used instead of screen. Film in general is not a good term to refer to a long standard commercial video production since it's ambiguous in general and therefore requires context for correct interpretation.

Independent filmmaking often takes place outside Hollywood, or other major studio systems. An independent film or indie film is a film initially produced without financing or distribution from a major film studio. Creative, business and technological reasons have all contributed to the growth of the indie film scene in the late 20th and early 21st century. On the business side, the costs of big-budget studio films also lead to conservative choices in cast and crew. There is a trend in Hollywood towards co-financing over two-thirds of the films put out by Warner Bros. in 2000 were joint ventures, up from 10% in 1987.<sup>14</sup> A hopeful director is almost never given the opportunity to get a job on a big-budget studio film unless he or she has significant industry experience in film or television. Also, the studios rarely produce films with unknown actors, particularly in lead roles.

At the start of March, the James Bond film No Time to Die, which was scheduled to premiere in March 2020 and to wide release in April 2020, was postponed to November and then subsequently to April 2021.<sup>84</sup> No Time to Die was the first film to change its planned release outside of China because of the early outbreak of COVID-19, and has opened discussions of dramatic implications on the film economy: many other productions had avoided scheduling releases at the same time as the 25th Bond film, and its new November date is in the busy holiday release period, leading to low box office intake in March/April and uncertain intake in November.<sup>21</sup> However, the postponement could reportedly generate more publicity for the film, and is also taking the familiar November release slot of the past two Bond films.<sup>85</sup> It has also been suggested that other high-profile films will follow and postpone releases, creating a similar effect.<sup>2184</sup> Several other films soon followed in postponing their releases worldwide: the heavily promoted Polish slasher film W lesie dziś nie zaśnie nikt Nobody Sleeps in the Woods Tonight was postponed from March 13 to some point in the future when the situation had settled,<sup>86</sup> and the political documentary Slay the Dragon had its theatrical release moved from March 13 to April 3.<sup>31</sup>
