Émile Reynaud already mentioned the possibility of projecting the images in his 1877 patent application for the praxinoscope. He presented a praxinoscope projection device at the Société française de photographie on 4 June 1880, but did not market his praxinoscope a projection before 1882. He then further developed the device into the Théâtre Optique which could project longer sequences with separate backgrounds, patented in 1888. He created several movies for the machine by painting images on hundreds of gelatin plates that were mounted into cardboard frames and attached to a cloth band. From 28 October 1892 to March 1900 Reynaud gave over 12,800 shows to a total of over 500,000 visitors at the Musée Grévin in Paris.

Film criticism Main article: Film criticism If a movie can illuminate the lives of other people who share this planet with us and show us not only how different they are but, how even so, they share the same dreams and hurts, then it deserves to be called great. The first public screenings of films at which admission was charged were made in 1895 by the American Woodville Latham and his sons, using films produced by their Eidoloscope company,² and by the - arguably better known - French brothers Auguste and Louis Lumière with ten of their own productions.citation needed Private screenings had preceded these by several months, with Lathams slightly predating the Lumière brothers.citation needed

The August 26 release of Tenet marked the first major U.S. blockbuster film to be released theatrically. Due to safety concerns in the United States, the film premiered in 70 international markets through a staggered release model, before being released in select U.S. cities on September 3.¹¹² Its box office revenue had reached 0 million by September 6, 2020, with a modest million in the United States.¹¹³ In September 2020, Sony Pictures Entertainment Chairman Tony Vinciguerra stated that the company will not release any big budget films to theatres until the pandemic is over.¹¹⁴ On October 2, No Time to Die was delayed once more to April 2, 2021, due to a requirement for the film to have a worldwide theatrical audience. This came amid continued closures of cinemas in the key U.S. markets of Los Angeles and New York City, as well the reinstatement of restrictions in the United Kingdom due to a second wave.¹¹⁵

As Universal Pictures held the international distribution rights to No Time to Die, its film F9 was delayed to May 28, 2021 Memorial Day weekend as to not cannibalize it.¹¹⁶ No Time to Die has since been postponed again to September 30 in the UK and October 8 in the U.S.¹¹⁷¹¹⁸ In March 2021, F9 was postponed once again to June 25.¹¹⁹
