Film From Wikipedia, the (free) encyclopedia For other uses, see Film disambiguation movie and Moving picture redirect here. For other uses, see movie disambiguation and Moving picture disambiguation. A film, also called a movie, motion picture or moving picture, is a work of visual art used to simulate experiences that communicate ideas, stories, perceptions, feelings, beauty, or atmosphere through the use of moving images. These images are generally accompanied by sound, and more rarely, other sensory stimulations.¹ The word cinema, short for cinematography, is often used to refer to filmmaking and the film industry, and to the art form that is the result of it.

Terminology : The terminology used for describing motion pictures varies considerably between British and American English. In British usage, the name of the medium is film.

The word movie is understood but seldom used.⁷⁸ Additionally, the pictures plural is used semi-frequently to refer to the place where movies are exhibited, while in American English this may be called the movies, but it is becoming outdated. In other countries, the place where movies are exhibited may be called a cinema or movie theatre. By contrast, in the United States, movie is the predominant form. Although the words film and movie are sometimes used interchangeably, film is more often used when considering artistic, theoretical, or technical aspects.

The term movies more often refers to entertainment or commercial aspects, as where to go for fun evening on a date. For example, a book titled How to Understand a Film would probably be about the aesthetics or theory of film, while a book entitled Lets Go to the movies would probably be about the history of entertaining movies and blockbusters.

Awards :Three award ceremonies were held after the coronavirus became widespread: the 10th Magritte Awards on February 1, the 45th César Awards on February 28, and the 43rd Japan Academy Film Prize on March 6. The Japanese Academy Prize ceremony went ahead on March 6. However, the ceremony was conducted without any guests or journalists.²⁷ The 14th Seiyu Awards cancelled its live ceremony scheduled for March 7 in Tokyo and instead broadcast the winners on Nippon Cultural Broadcastings internet radio program.²⁸ The 40th Golden Raspberry Awards were initially intended to take place as planned on March 14.29 However, it was ultimately cancelled. The ceremonies winners were announced on their YouTube channel on March 16.30
